“ I am not sure if this is the same Richard Buffington that I knew as a teenager but I hope it is. We all called him Buff and he was a friend of my fathers. He told great stories about the war and life in the twin cities. If I remember correctly he owned a Laundromat and I remember him telling me that Dave Moore, the well known newscaster, would come in sometimes. I still think of Buff and the stories of being a salesman and being on the road. He was quite the guy and I still have fond memories of him. If the family sees this post please contact me; I would like to find out what happened to him after about 1975. Please call me at 651-587-5525.
