“ Merry Christmas Eve Dad! We will all be together tonight, just as we have always done for all the past Christmas's. Except this year we all will have a sadness in our hearts without you there. We will be thinking of you and holding you close to our hearts and be thinking of you lovingly and all the past memories. We have such a close family because of the great father that you were. So hopefully we can help Mom (it has been hard for her) and each other through this Holiday season. Thank you God for blessing our family with such a great Husband/Dad. I LOVE you Dad! Merry Christmas

“ Paul and Family, I am so sorry to learn of your dad. I know what you are going through. Your dad (like mine) was always there at every game we played whether on the sidelines or in the stands; we could always count on them to be there for us. He was a kind, gentle person who was always encouraging and wanted us to be our best both on the field and off. I so appreciate he and Marcy coming to my dad's funeral when you were out of town. May you be comforted by the peace that only God can give at this time.

“ It's heartbreaking to hear this news about Bob. A highlight of visiting Aunt Judy and Uncle Marvin for our family was always getting to visit with Marcy and Bob, too. Our deepest sympathy goes out to Marcy and the family.

“ Marcella and family, I can't wrap my mind around the fact the Bob will no longer be with us! His ever present smile, his sense of humor, his caring and his unending faith in our God will be missed so much by our family. We've enjoyed so many hours in your home and you've picked us up from the airport, transported us, fed us and allowed us a relaxing visit, sharing the good times and the not so good. I hope you all know just how special a man he was, not just our brother/brother-in-law but a true friend. We will never forget him! God bless all of you.

“ Dear Marcy was stunned when I received the call from Ole of Bob's sudden and unexpected passing. What a wonderful guy. He will be missed well beyond his loving family. His soft smile and quick retort was very disarming and always comforting. We always shared the same joke whenever we got together that you had to have the name Bob to be part of the IMCO advertising department (Thompson, Belden, Johnson, Hollenbeck and our northstar - Halpin). God Bless you and your family during this very sad period but please hold close to your heart the fact that there are many, many friends that will be recalling the fond memories that came with time spent with Bob.

“ Dear Marcy and Family Don joins me in extending our condolences to you on Bob's unexpected passing. He was a valued Multifoods' colleague. His easy going nature and dedication to high quality work won him many admirers and his ability to see the humorous side of every situation gained him a host of friends. We will miss him. We wish you the comfort of ever present joyous memories. We know you always will be embraced by his warmth.
