“ I first met Bob, when he dropped by to see my co-worker, Christine, at Allendale Association. (she & I were double trouble there) He was a gentle man, with an infectious smile. That was also the day I first met Abbey, as well, as he was holding her. What a doting father he was to her, and it was clear that she was his little princess. Christine filled me in, on what a responsible, loving, husband, and father he was, and treated her children, from a previous marriage, as his own. I was so impressed to know that. What a good man! He will be missed by so many.
RIP. Bob, and I pray for healing to come to your family.
