“ I am grateful for having had the joy of being a friend of Rodney. He never settled for less in any area of his life. Faye, Joe, and Brigitte were his epicenter and he was happiest whenever they were around. To Rodney, firing up the grill, and having friends gathered around watching his beloved Packers was the best way to spend a Sunday. He was the most die hard Packer fan I have ever met, which is not a very big surprise because when Rod was in your corner he stayed there, and you knew that you had an ally for life. As an advocate for others Rodney excelled. He helped shape many of the Union contracts when he worked for Lunds Bakery, and he made sure that the company lived up to those contracts by using the grievance process whenever it was called for . He was the longest serving Shop Steward in any of the Unions locations and it was because he was so very committed to seeing that people were treated right and treated fairly. This same philosophy was apparent in Rodney's political views. You had no doubt when you drove up to his house during an election season who Rodney supported. His front yard was a wonderful display of democracy at work! Paul Wellstone lived on through people like Rodney and this passion for standing up for what he believed in is what made Rodney such an inspiration to me and I am sure many others.

Thank you my dear friend. You have been a source of what can be, if we only try a little harder and care a little more.

Until we meet again...

What a wonderful tribute Gary, he was all that. He was your friend for life, he stood by me through thick and thin... we meet as neighbors back in 1981, our kids grew up together, the trips to all the parks, flying kites, sliding down hills, ice skating, pumpkins carving, going down town on the bus to see the twins parade, trick or treating,, so many memory's I can't name them all, I will miss him terribly,,, thank you Wry for being the best friend anyone could hope for in a life time.
