“ I'm sad and sorry to be sitting at home this moment (morning of 12-5) instead of being with you at Roger's funeral. But my thoughts are certainly with you, and prayers, too, for your comfort and peace. Looking at Uncle Roger's picture reminds me afresh of my own Dad, and I understand the pain of losing a father. What an amazing man Uncle Roger was. His faith in the Lord was so strong, and now he is rejoicing in the very presence of Jesus, whom he loved. His zest for life was unmatched...such enthusiasm...so good natured whenever I saw him. I know he was a hard worker like all the Keske men, and a skilled one. It showed in their hands--those long fingers with the work-gnarled knuckles! I'm wiping away tears as I write this. Please know that you are in my thoughts and prayers. And of course you also know, we will see him again, where we will never say goodbye. God's peace, comfort, and strength to you all. Love, cousin Janette
