“ Sandy was a caring loving person who gave freely. I remember how happy she was to hear that her step daughter was pregnant. Soon she arrived with my Dad and Barb at Michelle and my home with a gift. We sat and talked celebrating with hugs and smiles. She was full of love for our growing family and sent us her love and support often 💖🙏

“ Thank you for having a link to the funeral. I appreciate being able to hear the stories and music to celebrate Sandy.

Sandy is my Mother-in-law. She tried to make me feel welcomed. When I first came to a family event Sandy wanted to connect one-on-one. She called and invited her step-daughter Kay and myself over for dinner. She asked me if I had any food allergies. I told her I wasn't eating red meat, and I was allergic to walnuts and pineapple. She put forth a genuine effort to make it a special meal. She had Stan grill out steaks. She made a special bacon dressing for the salad. And for dessert she made a pineapple and walnut cool whip dessert. I ate a roll with some butter. Then on the way home stopped at the McDonald's down the street to get a fish sandwich. At the time I felt slighted. Maybe this was her way of saying she didn't like me. Then as the years went by I realized it was the opposite. She wanted me to feel completely welcomed. She heard the things I couldn't eat as the things she needed to make for dinner.

When I remember that story I laugh because it is her heart that shines. I appreciate the relationship her and I have had over the last 30+ years. I will miss her FB posts, her good heart, her phone calls & letters, and her ability to laugh at life.

Loving you dearly,
Michelle from Austin

“ Sandy has been friends with my mom (Lynne Schwartzkopf Olson) since high school. My mom passed away four years ago. She had a stroke and Sandy was so good about checking up on her. I didn't have the pleasure of meeting Sandy in person but became Facebook friends with her and I can tell she was a special person. Our thoughts and prayers are with you.

“ I am so sorry for your loss of this beautiful, caring, strong, funny, loving woman. I was lucky enough to move two doors from Sandy 56 years ago this July and that was the beginning of years of sharing laughter, tears, raising kids and being strong women. Love you Stan, Barb & Mike.
