

Scott Williams

November 17, 2012

No obituary found for this tribute.

Tribute Wall

ES

“ Scott was not only my uncle, but someone I grew up with. He was more of a brother and friend. He couldn't really say my name, Beth, but he did have a name for me, something like "Chechy". I knew it was my name he gave me:) I also echo what my mom, Carol, has said about him. He was such a happy person. He loved to make jokes, but what also very caring. He always wanted to make sure we were taken care of as kids. Scott also believed in Jesus and knew that his brother, my dad, Mark is in Heaven. I truly believe Jesus has saved him and that he is dancing and singing in Heaven right now:) Scott will be missed, but I know he is having the time of his life right now.

Elizabeth Sears - November 28, 2012 at 09:19 PM

CW

“ Scott had many interests. He loved to drive a real car back and forth up north at the tree farm every week we were up there. He also had a small motorcycle that fit him perfect and drove that back and forth, too. When I married his brother, Mark; Mark had a Volkswagon and that has been Scott's favorite vehicle for many years. He loved to watch Laurel & Hardy episodes on TV. His interests also included - bowling at the bowling alley; watching car racing, football, baseball, Superman, Spiderman, Lone Ranger, Wizard of Oz (which he always called - Rainbow), Dukes of Hazzard and many more shows on TV. He loved being with his family and even talking about his interests so much. He would talk to anybody who would listen to him. His favorite food was Apple Pie and ice cream. He will be missed by me as well as his brother, Mark - who was my husband for 25 years. Carol

Carol Williams - November 28, 2012 at 08:16 PM