“ Shirley became part of my life when I was about 13. My brother Roger had gone to work for the Red Owl in Lamoure, ND. He met this lovely young lady, Shirley Hannestad, and he brought her home for the weekend. She was so beautiful and full of life. They were crazy about each other. From then on Roger brought her with him whenever he came back to Casselton to visit Mom and Dad. She was the greatest sister to me. I'm sure I was a pain in the neck but she was always so sweet to me. I learned to love her early on.

I remember their wedding. Since they were two different religions they had services in two different places. I can't remember exactly how that went. Shirley was beautiful in her wedding dress.

Shirley and Roger were living in Fargo while I was in high school. After I went to work in Fargo, I used to see them every day. We used to play miniature golf together. When I was going to get married, Shirley altered my sister Norma's wedding dress for me.

They were still living there when Colleen was born. After that, I don't quite remember where they lived. They moved a lot because of Roger's job.

I have many fond memories of Shirley and I do miss her.
