We may not have seen each other on a daily basis, but we talked several times a day. When I asked what he was doing, it was shaking hands and kissing babies. I loved that man with my whole heart and he will be missed greatly. Rest in heaven my love.

“ On behalf of myself, and the entire Sherman Street "family", there are no words to express the great sorrow that is felt at learning of the passing of "our brother" Sidney Lasalle Bruce Jr. (Brucie). There are just so many memories with Bruce and the entire Bruce Family that's it feels unfair to only speak of one or two....we were best friend, but not without our occasional disagreements. One incident when we were about 5 and 6 years old, was the little girls on Sherman Street (Myself, Tyra and others) were on the curb by our driveway making our "mud pies" and I guess Brucie didn't anything better to do than come over with a long branch from a tree and poke it into our "special dessert" (mud pies). Well....back then even though I was the smallest one on the block, I had no problem at all standing up for myself, handling my business and on THIS day I stood up for the hard work we had put into our mud pies.....when I stood up from the curb, I must have had a dangerous look on my face, because Brucie eyes got big as a deer caught in the headlights....he took off running, and I took off right behind him. We ran up Sherman, across Stephenson Street and cars just missed hitting us both. Brucie was looking back to see how close I was too him, finally ran out of steam (with me right on his heels) when he got to the bullpen in the projects. Which is about 3-4 blocks from where we started. I then proceeded to dust my brother up a little (laid hands)....and we came back home. As we got older he was one of the first people to contact me in one way or another when my family went through trying times. That was our relationship. Truly a lifetime of memories we shared, good, bad and in between. Praying God's blessings of strength, comfort and peace to the entire Bruce family and all of Bruce's friends. Rest in Paradise Bro....you will live within our hearts and memories.....forever.
