“ My heart has been heavy since I heard the news of your passing, my eldest first cousin, Toni Edwin-Ngeri nee Olotu! I have shed a lot of tears as I recalled memories of my childhood with you and the last time I saw you which was in New York. I remember how you used to plait my hair as a child and how I would cry and cry. But you would always comfort me with that hausa song which you always sang to me and which I have never forgotten. I have sung it many times these past few weeks. My heart breaks for your children and the family you have left behind. Your departure was not one any of us could have predicted. We are trusting in God that HE alone knows why. So many unanswered questions... You will be missed... Sleep well my beautiful cousin... R.I.P Toni.

All my love,
Eniye
