“ In June of 1976 I got my real estate license. Vernet was a loan officer for Banco Mortgage in Waterloo. Her and her friend and colleague Betty Spence were doing a large book of business. She was very good at what she did, but more important was that she was a great person. I was a broke college student trying to sell houses at age 21. I had a problem with a transaction that would have cost me $500. Vernet stepped in and made it magically disappear and probably saved me from near bankruptcy! Perhaps partially because of her I am still selling real estate. I am sorry for your loss and will keep you in my thoughts and prayers.
