“ Vern and I had been friends for many years and over the years I would work with Vern cleaning ramps and snow removal. Vern taught me how to operate a bobcat. We worked on a job at the “ International Market “ in MPLS where a waterline broke under the black-topped parking lot parking lot and a hole kept getting larger. At the time no one knew what was wrong, Vern taught me how to use the jackhammer on the bobcat to open up the hole to see what was going on. Vern received some major teasing when he first started teaching me how to operate his bobcat. But that did not stop him. Vern was an Amazing man. He called me late one night when he was in the hospital to let me know he had cancer. I got dressed right away and drove down to spend some time with him. I was taking care of my Dad at the time. I had already put him to bed. dad and Vern got along well. Dad (almost made it too 92) has since joined Vern. I received a call from Vern’s Daughter informing me of Vern’s passing. She said she would call later to let me know about the funeral arrangements, however I never heard back from her. I still miss my friend today. Many BLESSINGS to You Vern.
