Oh death why are you so cruel, you snashed a beautiful soul from us . Agbor, it is hard to imagine you are no more with us. My heart bleeds for the pains you endured. If only tears could bring you back. I keep saying God why but unfortunately my questions will never be answered. As much as the pain of losing you is immense, I am so grateful for the moments we shared. As you journey to the land of no return, I bid you good nite. Continue to rest in the bosom of your creator. Adieu my sister, Adieu friend, until we meet again. You will forever remain in our hearts 💔😭.

“ Sister Agbor, it breaks my heart that you left us at such a time. Since i became a part of the Takang family in 2011, through my marriage to your kid brother, you have been nothing but a pillar of love and grace. Though you only visited Cameroon twice, your presence left lasting footprints on our hearts. Your kindness, your wise counsel, and your gentle spirit touched me deeply. Thank you for every word of advice you shared, always spoken with love, and always from the heart. You were a devoted aunt to our four children, showering them with gifts and affection that spoke volumes of your generous soul. When we heard of your illness, we were shaken. Together as a family, we lifted our voices in prayer, hoping for your healing. But God, in His wisdom, chose a different path. He called you home to rest in His eternal light. Sleep well, beloved sister. Your memory will forever remain in our hearts, until we meet again in paradise. Adieu, Sister Agbor.

“ A Tribute to My Beloved Sister

Today, I stand with a heavy heart, yet full of gratitude, as I pay tribute to a sister who meant so much to me, to our family, and to everyone who had the blessing of knowing her.

Sister Agbor, I cannot stop crying over your loss. Just days before your passing, you spoke to us, your siblings and our mother, asking us not to cry, assuring us that you were at peace with God. Those words brought us some comfort, but the pain remains heavy. It is not easy to bear this loss.

We grew up together, through childhood games, school days, and the many phases of life. We were more than siblings; we were best friends. I remember the laughter we shared, the secrets we kept, and the countless moments that shaped our bond. I'll never forget the time we tried to prepare snails together—it ended up looking more like a science experiment than a meal! That was actually my first time tasting snails, and it's a memory I'll always cherish.

She possessed a rare kind of strength—gentle yet powerful. I watched her help our mother tirelessly, especially with selling her delicious koki. Whether in the kitchen or out on the farm, she worked with pride, grace, and love, never complaining, always giving her all. Her presence in our family was a true gift: a dependable hand and a compassionate heart.

Sister Agbor had a beautiful voice and a deep, infectious passion for music. She was the heart and soul of our CYF group in Fundong, our song mistress and conductor. With her energy and leadership, she brought harmony to our voices and spirit to our gatherings. I can still hear her voice echoing through our school campus during morning assemblies, confidently leading the national anthem. Her voice inspired pride and unity in everyone who heard it.

She was also a blessing to my home. She loved my wife and children deeply, and they loved her just as much. Her kindness, her humour, and the warmth she brought into our lives made her unforgettable. My children still talk about the gifts she brought them and how she always made them feel special and loved.

Though she is no longer with us in body, her spirit lives on in every song we sing, in every lesson she taught, and in the love, she gave so freely. The pain of her absence is deep, but so is the joy and gratitude of having known her.

Sister, you were a light in our lives.

Thank you for the love, the laughter, the concern, and the memories.

You shall be remembered for your herculean strength and unparalleled compassion.

You shall be remembered as a cheerful giver.

You shall be remembered for your hard work and selflessness.

You shall be remembered as a faithful wife, mother, sister, and friend.

You shall be remembered for your elegance and eloquence.

Rest well, my beloved sister. You will live forever in our hearts.

Your kid brother, TAKANG MOFOR AKO (BUEA)

“ Am still to connect the dots. Vero, an epitome of peace, love, kindness, compassion and a gentle heart, full of peace and humor. Your specie, is very rare to find on earth. I remember our last phone communication, while, you were still at the hospital. And you were very thankful for you being in our midnight prayers for good health and strength. I missed you dearly, my humble heart sister. God knows more about you. May the holy angels be with you always.

“ It's hard to find the words to describe the ache in my heart. Mrs Besong Agborkin was more than just an inlaw to me, she was a little sister and a friend.

I will never forget the beautiful moments we shared in Buea while she was a student and when I attended her wedding in Fundong. Agborkin will always lift your spirit with her laughter and kind words.

When we met again in Minnesota on many occasions Agborkin continued to show her captivating humour, generosity and selflessness. I will never forget the shopping trip to the designer outlet shops in Minnesota where you asked me to pick what I needed from the shops on your bill. You said “Aunty Patience, treat yourself life is too short”. You said these words as if you knew that was the last shopping we had together.

Agborkin always had a way of making everyone around her smile with her laughter and free spirit. Agborkin showed resilience trying to massage my painful back even when she was struggling with this demon illness that took her away from us. Agborkin taught me the true meaning of unconditional love.

While our time with Agborkin was far too short, the kindness, laughter, and the love she shared will last forever. We love you Mrs Besong Agborkin. You will be deeply, deeply missed.

“ I find it hard to put words together for you at a time like this but I am truly grateful to God for you and the patience, love, selflessness, and unwavering strength that you’ve carried for soo long. As your first born, only you know the limitless of promises I’ve made to you and it hurts that you aren’t going to be here to receive them but I’m confident that while in heaven you’ll be receiving more and better than anything here in earth!

Until we meet again, I pray that you rest well and be comforted by your Father’s.

“ Dearest sister, it still feels surreal, I feel like you went to one of your numerous hospital stays! I can't believe you are not coming home. Feels like a dream and I hope it will make sense some day. So hard to say you should have eternal rest. This is our wish for you! We trust God and believe His timing is perfect! Sleep tight my dearest, it was a pleasure taking care of you! God knows best, sleep tight until we meet again! Tell Papa we miss him as well! 🥹🥹🥹🥹
