“ Although I didn't meet Virginia until Jan 2021 when I began serving as her Financial Advisor, I learned very quickly she had her wits about her and she knew what she wanted. Virginia admitted she didn't remember names or places as well anymore and didn't wake up very early. I never called her again before 10am! It certainly was a pleasure and a blessing meeting and talking with her several times. Even in that brief time, I feel fortunate to have been able to meet and serve Virginia. God bless her and my condolences to all those family and friends that know and love her both present and past.
