“ Sweet memories of growing up in a neighborhood full of kids. Playing from morning til night- our parents not worried about where we were, what we were doing. (though maybe at times they should have been...lol) My mom went over to Virginias' for coffee often when I was small, a toddler being dragged at the time. Thankfully my dearest/ oldest friend Peggy and I who probably stole rattles from each other became best friends. Virginia was my second mom growing up. Kept me in line when I needed it as well as somehow knowing when I needed some encouragement. Always a kind gentle "hello" as she smiled and opened the back door to let me in. Her joyous smile every time I walked into her home (which was almost daily) said it all! She actually seemed happy to see me most days! She was the one who explained menstrual cycles to me! Funny now, but very necessary at the time! She will be greatly missed! God Bless and comfort you all- you wonderful Richardsons!!!! Hugs, Gail (Walthour) Ebert

Thank you for the wonderful words about my mom! Its funny but I guess only you would remember about who taught you that girl stuff! I probably knew at the time, but forgot! It made me laugh because I could see myself doing the same thing! You are so special to me, Gail and I cherish our friendship!
